Behavioral Ethics: The Psychology of Moral Behavior

Sven Peterson

Vice President, Compliance, Ethics & Regulatory Services, Premera Blue Cross

Werner De Bondt

Professor of Finance (emeritus), Richard H. Driehaus College of Business, DePaul University

- How do individuals make ethical choices? We consider the psychological processes that result in ethical decisions and behavior. Our focus is on actual human conduct rather than a priori normative principles elaborated by intellectuals throughout history.
- We also ask how social institutions, e.g., law or regulatory and corporate policies, influence moral functioning. Their effects are often counterproductive.
- Lastly, we explore behavioral interventions (validated by insights from psychology) that foster ethical behavior and have the potential to bring about a culture of service and purpose. We offer examples within a corporate/organizational setting, e.g., nudges that preserve freedom of choice, yet tweak behavior.

SCCE is in the process of applying for additional external continuing education units (CEUs). Approval quantities and types vary by state or certifying body. For entities that have granted prior approval for this event, credits will be awarded in accordance with their requirements. CEU totals are subject to change.

Upon request, if there is sufficient time and we are able to meet their requirements, SCCE may submit this course to additional states or entities for consideration. Only requests from registered attendees will be considered. If you would like to make a request, please contact us at +1 952.933.4977 or 888.277.4977 or email ccb@compliancecertification.org.
